

Nikhil Rao

Vice President, India
Operations

Nikhil Rao serves as the Vice President of Operations at Flex India, where he plays a pivotal role in driving strategic initiatives and guiding business units and operational teams towards excellence.

With over 20 years of diverse experience in operations, program management, business development, and logistics services, Nikhil has established himself as a leader in the industry.

Previously, he led the Global Services and Solutions (GSS) division for India, where he successfully launched GSS's inaugural forward logistics footprint, seamlessly integrating forward fulfillment with manufacturing processes.

His leadership has been instrumental in strengthening customer relationships, fostering innovative business models, and significantly enhancing financial performance.

His commitment to operational excellence and strategic growth continues to drive Flex India's success in a competitive market.

Nikhil holds a Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering from R.V. College of Engineering in Bengaluru and an Executive MBA from the prestigious Indian School of Business, Mohali.

Nikhil Rao serves as the Vice President of Operations at Flex India, where he plays a pivotal role in driving strategic initiatives and guiding business units and operational teams towards excellence.

Nikhil Rao

Vice President, India Operations

With over 20 years of diverse experience in operations, program management, business development, and logistics services, Nikhil has established himself as a leader in the industry.

Previously, he led the Global Services and Solutions (GSS) division for India, where he successfully launched GSS's inaugural forward logistics footprint, seamlessly integrating forward fulfillment with manufacturing processes.

His leadership has been instrumental in strengthening customer relationships, fostering innovative business models, and significantly enhancing financial performance.

His commitment to operational excellence and strategic growth continues to drive Flex India's success in a competitive market.

Nikhil holds a Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering from R.V. College of Engineering in Bengaluru and an Executive MBA from the prestigious Indian School of Business, Mohali.

flex