

Vaishali Chopra leads Public Affairs and Communications for Yara India, driving strategic public policy advocacy, government relations, corporate communications, and sustainability initiatives across the agricultural ecosystem. Bringing two decades of cross-sectoral experience across leading multinational agribusiness and financial institutions, she previously held senior public policy and corporate communications roles at Bayer, Monsanto, Rabobank, and UPL. Throughout her career, she has specialized in managing complex regulatory projects, building public-private stakeholder partnerships, and executing reputation management strategies aligned with corporate responsibility goals. A management graduate specializing in Agribusiness, she holds an executive certification in Public Policy from the Indian School of Business (ISB) and a Strategic Leadership certification from Harvard University.